Academic Affairs Committee Minutes September 18, 2001

Members present: R. Nigro (chair), R. Bonnette, G. Bruce, J. Cicala, K. Kinzel, J. McGoldrick, M. McManus, L. Miller, E. Mollenhauer, M. Moreau, R. Palladino, J. Pastis, W. Price, T. Zurakowski, Z. Wolf.

1. Dr. Nigro offered a prayer and initiated introductions of new and returning members.
2. March 8, 2001 meeting minutes were reviewed and approved (7Y, 0 N, 3A, 2 not present at time of vote).
3. A discussion of plagiarism issues that may warrant the attention of the University community, and strategies to address them, yielded a number of observations and recommendations. Among them: plagiarism, whether rooted in ignorance of appropriate methods of research principles and practices or in willful violation of our rules and regulations, is extant in and an issue for our community; some students and faculty may be in need, respectively, of clearer guidelines regarding what constitutes plagiarism/academic dishonesty and options for proactively and reactively addressing same; and there are a number of course-based, institutional, and software-based approaches or tools, both proactive and reactive, in use at other institutions or available for perusal. It was concluded that the deans and continuing studies administration would ask chairs, graduate and program directors, to raise and get a sense of the depth of this issue among their faculty and staff members. Dr. Nigro will arrange for the compilation of references to and guidelines for addressing plagiarism/academic dishonesty in La Salle publications and will invite Library Director John Baký to an upcoming meeting to discuss strategies. It also was noted that Dr. Gary Clabaugh has written on this subject and may be invited to join our discussion.
4. Prior to our discussion of the 2002-2003 Academic Calendar, Dr. Cicala noted that, among three printed and distributed versions of the 2001-2002 calendar – those in the Undergraduate Bulletin, the Student Handbook, and the version distributed by former Assistant Provost Jerry Johnson in Campus News last March – there are a number of discrepancies, particularly in regard to the dates of spring semester final examinations. Dr. Nigro will examine and make recommendations to address this matter.
5. A draft of the 2002-2003 Academic Calendar was introduced for discussion and review. Among the matters discussed were the length of our semesters to those of other area institutions (shorter than some, longer than others, at least in terms of numbers of weeks); the need to experiment with different presentation formats or tools to incorporate information about variations of dates/deadlines for graduate and continuing studies programs, among others; the need for the inclusion of grades-due dates for summer sessions; and matters raised in previous years, but still in need of discussion, such as the long period between the end of the fall semester and its grades-due date and the relative merits/pitfalls of starting the fall semester prior to or subsequent to Labor Day. Dr. Nigro will distribute a draft to the University community, by a variety of means, and will call for comments and suggestions to be submitted in time for our next meeting, scheduled for October 16.

Respectfully submitted,

FACULTY SENATE Minutes of the May 10, 2001 AM Meeting

Present: B. Bednar, D. Cichowicz, E. Cogan, S. DeTurk, E. Giardino, P. Heinzer, M. Moreau, J. Pastis, D. Robinson, S. Smith, S. Stickel, T. Straub, A. Walsh, J. Welsh, S. Wiley, J. Volpe

Excused: S. Borkowski, G. Ballough, L. Miller

New Senate Present: M. Allen, D. George, S. Leibiger, R. Mshomba, M. Smith

Guests: Lynn Collins

The meeting was called to order at 9:10 AM. The minutes of the April 17, 2001 meeting were approved as amended.

Senators who attended the May 7-8 Board of Trustees Retreat discussed the sessions of those two days. Much of the discussion focused on the University's strategic plan. The Senate President stated that the Retreat offered an excellent opportunity for faculty to interact with members of the Board.

Members of the Senate Executive Committee reported on their May 9 meeting with the Provost. One topic of discussion was the search process for a Dean of the School of Arts and Sciences and the structure of the School of Arts and Sciences. The Provost will convene a task force to look at the structure of the School of Arts and Sciences prior to advertising the Dean's position. (The Provost informed the Senate Executive Committee that the search would be a national one.) At the Provost's request, the Senate Executive Committee will forward names of faculty that the Senate recommends to serve on the task force. The task force is expected to meet over the summer.

There was a discussion of problems experienced by Departments who have conducted national searches over the past academic year. The problem is related to statements taken from the University Mission statement that must now be included in all job announcements. The question raised is whether those phrases are subject to misinterpretation of the Christian Brothers tradition by potential applicants.

The Senate President reported on reactions by University Council to the proposed revisions to promotion and tenure guidelines. The Senate Academic and Faculty Affairs Committee will review concerns raised by the Deans and the Provost. The Senate President will ask that the Deans provide their concerns to the committee in writing.

Faculty Senate

The Senate President also reported on the status of the Faculty Handbook. The Handbook has been given to the Assistant Provost, G. Johnson, who is to compile a list of major proposed revisions to the handbook. The revisions come from faculty and administrators who have reviewed the handbook.

There was a brief report on the Senate election by the Senate Vice President. Approximately 72 percent of faculty eligible to vote on the second ballot did so.

The Chair of the Committee on Committees summarized the status of committee appointments. Of the 42 appointments made to standing committees, there have been 39 replies, all accepting the appointments.

The Senate heard a report from the Chair of the Financial Affairs Planning Committee. The Board of Trustees has approved the 2001-2002 budget. The Chair informed the Senate that the Advancement Office had presented a performance report to University Council. There was also a summary of current enrollment data that had been provided by the Vice President for Enrollment Services, R. Ricci, to University Council.

The Senate Academic and Faculty Affairs Committee met to discuss the Distinguished Faculty Award. The committee will forward three names to the Provost for consideration for the award. The committee is going to maintain a record of all faculty nominated for future reference.

The Senate President asked a faculty member who had served on the Activities Funding Board about faculty presence on the Board. As noted at a previous meeting, the faculty representatives had not been able attend any Spring semester meetings of the Board. The faculty member indicated that there had been problems scheduling meetings to accommodate the schedules of the many students who sit on the Board. The Senate President wrote to University Life, requesting that meetings be scheduled to allow faculty participation in Board deliberations.

The Preliminary Draft of the Middle States Periodic Review Report has been completed. The Senate President extended her thanks to Steve Smith for all his efforts in preparing the draft. The report is due to Middle States on June 1, 2001.

The Senate President extended her thanks to all who have served with her on the Senate, with a special acknowledgment to the outgoing members of the Senate: Gerald Ballough, Evelyn Cogan, Jack Seydow, Scott Stickel and Sam Wiley.

The Senate President presented amendments to the Senate Constitution and By-laws that were made in 1991-1992, but never incorporated into the document. The amendments deal with terms of Senate Office. With respect to the office of Senate President, the President is elected for a two-year term. However, the Constitution, as amended, allows the President to be elected for an additional one-year term if he or she was originally elected as Senate President in the first year of a three-year Senate appointment.

In other old business, a question was raised on possible revisions to the Senate Constitution to reflect the current role of the Senate Vice President.

A member of the Senate asked about the status of examination of the current faculty evaluation form. The Senate President replied that the issue had been presented to the Faculty Development Committee to consider as part of their charge. However, the Committee was not able to proceed on the issue because of their work reviewing the University research leaves and grants system. There was agreement that Academic Affairs should be asked to place consideration of the evaluation form on their agenda.

The Senate members expressed their appreciation for the work of the out-going Senate President.

The meeting adjourned at 11:35 AM.

Respectfully submitted,

Jeannie Welsh

The remainder of the meeting focused on planning for the 2001-2002 year. Work will continue on the tenure and promotion guidelines proposed by the Academic and Faculty Affairs committee, on the University Handbook, and on an investigation into how a revision of our current teaching evaluations could best be accomplished.

New agenda items for the coming year will include:

Health issues in Olney Hall (lack of air circulation, etc) – Questions raised by senators included: should this go to health advisory committee and/or should we have members from that committee come to a meeting? Should it also go to security and safety committee? Maybe get reps from both committees to come to Senate early in the fall? Also physical plant? Include issues for other buildings?

Issue of putting sprinklers in the dorms; this has been initiated by faculty senates at other places, should we recommend this? Should we get information on whether university is planning this and what is timeline? The senate notes that some dormitories lack sprinkler systems and that this represents a serious safety risk. The senate president has directed the chair of the senate student affairs comm. (Steve Smith) to investigate plans for the installation of sprinkler systems and report back to the senate.

Concern was raised by a senator about the “eroding wall between faculty and administrators” – are there instances of the erosion of academic freedom? For example, are there conditions being put on research grants that keep certain things from appearing (also what about publications, grading, etc) It was suggested that this issue be taken up by the senate Academic and Faculty Affairs committee.

A senator raised concerns about the apparently rising number of administrative appointments with curricular and teaching functions. Another senator reported on some past conversations with the Provost around this issue and a discussion ensued about issues of hiring, academic standards, etc. and how to effectively convey to administration the significance of these issues for an array of reasons (including their affect on University rankings, etc) It was suggested that the senate Academic and Faculty Affairs committee continue this discussion and possibly bring some resolutions or focused discussion to the Senate

The issue of a lack of support services available for the start of 8am classes (i.e., secretaries, health services, etc) was raised. It was reported that the executive committee brought this up last year but there was no follow up – Peg will address this with the President again. A related issue is concern about faculty responsibility/liability when certain services (i.e. Health Services) are not available

A senator expressed the need for a central person to coordinate various programs running on campus (and services they need) – especially during summer months – or at least a centralized list of who to contact for what issues.

Senators were also asked for their recommendations of faculty members in the School of Arts and Sciences to sit on a task force that the Provost is convening to discuss possible restructuring within the school. The Senate Executive committee will compile a final list of names from the suggestions generated by the Senate and those names will be forwarded to the Provost for his consideration.

The meeting was adjourned at 2:45 pm.

Respectfully submitted,

Sabrina DeTurk

OLNEY AVENUE RE-PAVING UPDATE

The paving company will be laying new asphalt on Olney Avenue from Wister Avenue to Broad Street. While this work is being done, cars cannot park on that highway. Any autos parked in this work area on those dates may be towed. Much of this work is scheduled to be completed during the evening hours.

It is also anticipated that this work may cause other traffic problems along Olney Avenue including entering and leaving University parking facilities. If the entrance to the parking areas near Hayman has to be closed, access to these lots will be through the Clarkson Street gate located near the St. Miguel Resident facilities.

Please note there is ample off-street parking available at the Good Shepherd Lot for anyone needing to park somewhere. If the re-surfacing project requires an adjustment to the University's Shuttle route, the community will be notified of such changes.
